That was the last symbol that I had to complete in order to complete the entire set.

I am stating as a historical and provable fact that my government is engaging in practices that are in direct conflict with my provable and describable God.

I still, to this very moment, experience the constant agitation and interference with the most private and intimate moments that my wife and I share with one another.

I am still being followed around everywhere that I go by a group of people that are attempting to provoke me into conflicts.

I am expressing this here publicly.

I am being held as a captive of a government that is violating my religious rights.

This is not a game. This is not a joke. This is not an exaggeration.

This presence will not release itself from my life.

I can prove that it is directly in conflict with my religious values.

I am an American, now, only by force.

I have attempted to leave the country already and that country (Spain) refused to even grant me an opportunity to be heard in my plea for political asylum.

I do not have the resources to safely make that trip again.

I am being forced to remain in America now. Against my will, against my sincerely held religious values, and as a captive of a spying presence that follows me around, harasses me, and provokes me to anger, fighting, and a lack of peace.

This is my life as a forced American.

If you did not know that we are being caged into a life of subservience by our government, then let this be your official notice.
